PEACE STILL REIGNS

And There May Not Be Any Indian War.

ON THE WESTERN FRONTIER.

Government Supplies Dealt Out to All Indians, Good and Bad Alike—The Dance Still Going on, but No Serious Trouble Feared—The Soldiers Are, However, on Their Guard.

OMAHA, Nov. 25.—Dispatches from Pine Ridge agency says there are no signs of a break of the peace up there. All day long yesterday the employes of the agency handed out supplies to good and bad Indians alike. It was deemed not expedient to withhold supplies from the dancers. No Water, Big Road and other leaders of the ghost dancing have sent word that they will cease their antics. Little Wound is the only one now out. He has deigned no reply since the one sent early Sunday morning that he would not come to the agency.

Special Agent Cooper is inclined to be suspicious of the asseverations of obedience made by the Indians and vigilance will not be relaxed for some time. Agent Royer has opened a register and now keeps a close record of all persons who come to the agency for whatever motive. He is of the opinion that much trouble has been caused by the freedom with which whites and half-breeds have been allowed to mingle with the Indians. Col. Hughes, chief quartermaster of the department of the Platte, and Col. Ludington, of the quartermaster general's office, returned last night from Pine Ridge. They report everything quiet at the agency. Gen. Brooke is comfortably installed and has plenty of rations and forage for the troops. School is progressing in the agency school building and very little of the latter are remains. Settlers along the reservation lines, however, continue to stampede, and some pathetic appeals for protection are sent in. It is thought by the authorities that unless there is a fight all will be quiet within the week.

ONE MAN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

He is Compelled to See the "Messiah" to Save His Life.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—A Standing Rock Agency, N. Dak., special to The Tribune says: O. Stewart, agency saddler, while out buggy riding Sunday with his family visited the Indian camp, four miles from the agency, and stopped to see the Indians perform their religious ceremony. He began to rebuke Sitting Bull and others, saying there was nothing in the Indian religion and they ought not to follow it. The Indians who were all nearly naked and painted, hideously gathered around and became very mad. They scared Stewart nearly to death with their threats. One of the Indians, pointing toward the blazing sun, and shaking Stewart with the other hand, said: "See, see, there he is now, an Indian Messiah coming, now see, see." [illegible] compelled Stewart to look at the sun a moment, when he acknowledged he saw the Messiah, which seemed to please the Indians. They let him go, and Stewart came to the agency as fast as horses could bring him. He thinks he had a narrow escape from massacre.

All is quiet now, and the Indians are drawing commissaries and all appear happy. Sitting Bull is absent, but his family is here. Maj. McLaughlin is in a happy frame of mind over the peaceful state of affairs. The only trouble at all probable is that the Messiah faction may attempt to compel the other Indians to believe as they do. The Indians are loyal to the government and as much afraid of the Messiah Indians as white people. Every effort is being made by the agent and loyal Indians to preserve perfect order.

Reports to the effect of a stampede on the other side of the river, in which 500 families left their homes and fled for their lives to Eureka and other towns within fifty miles, was caused by a woman living at Lagrace. While out riding along the river she saw small numbers of Indians on a sand bar, this side of the river. Mounting with haste, she galloped home at full speed and gave the alarm and started for Eureka herself. These families are now returning to their homes.

Indian Bull's camp is still dancing, but doing no harm and not molested by the authorities. Soldiers here have been drilled to the highest efficiency, in case they should be needed. There is daily practice of Gatling guns and Hotchkiss rifles. No fears of trouble are entertained by the military.

AN INDIAN THREAT.

If the Soldiers Interfere They Will Be Served Like Custer's Soldiers Were.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—A Pierre, S. Dak., special to The Tribune says: Parties returning from the Cheyenne agency state that hardly an Indian was to be seen yesterday, it being the monthly ration day. This is a most suspicious circumstance to the authorities as all the Indians show up always on ration day. A man named Whitefield, who runs a small trading store on White river near Rosebud, has just arrived here and reports that a band of Indians broke in and pillaged his store during his temporary absence. He has come to to Pierre for safety, as also has a neighbor ranchman named Scoville. The latter claims to have conversed with Indian Messiah followers recently, and they told him that the white man had his Messiah and the Indian could have his. That the Indian did not stop the white man from worshiping his great spirit, and that if the white man tried to stop the Indian he would fight and kill all the whites that came near. He only wanted to be left alone to dance and no whites must come about, and further, that if the great father sent soldiers to stop them they would be served like Custer's soldiers were. The concensus of opinion here is that affairs are at a critical stage among the Indians and that the least thing will precipitate an outbreak, but if no interference is offered to the fanatics they will soon subside and the excitement will pass off.

EXCITEMENT IN BLUNT.

One Half-Breed Killed and a Noted Chief Arrested for a Spy.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—A Blunt, S. Dak., special to The Tribune says: In their fright Saturday evening after the report that an armed body of Indians, 500 strong, were approaching from the northwest, all Oneida and surrounding vicinity of Sully county gathered into the large hotel and men awaited armed for the fray. The old, the sick, women and children were huddled en masse in the building. Two children of Mr. Livingston, lying low with scarlet fever, were crowded in, exposing the whole company to the dreadful disease. Oneida has been furnished with 100 guns and 700 pounds of ammunition from Fort Sully.

The stage driver from Fairbanks arrived last night and reports one half-breed killed at Fort Bennett for not participating in the ghost dance. Shields, a noted chief from the lately ceded Winnebago reservation, who has been participating in the ghost dance at the Rosebud agency, is now in Blunt and acts very suspicious and is held by the marshal until he is proven other than a spy. Great excitement prevails.

Soldiers Receive Marching Orders.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 25.—Troop I, First cavalry, Troop I, Fifth cavalry, and Troop C, Ninth cavalry received their marching orders last night to proceed at once and join the forces at Pine Ridge agency. They left by special train and took with them the necessary camp equipage and 30,000 rounds of cartridges.

Soldiers En Route to the Front.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 25.—Six companies of United States troops from Fort Riley, Kan., under command of Col. Forsythe, passed through here last night en route to the Pine Ridge agency.

BUSY AT HEADQUARTERS.

The Situation According to General Miles' Chief Officer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—The electric lights shone out of the windows of army headquarters in the Pullman building last night, and in every department the officials were at their desks. Gen. Williams, who is in command during the temporary absence of Gen. Miles, was busily engaged in reading dispatches from the seat of the Indian troubles and in writing replies. At 11 o'clock he said that the situation had materially improved, although it was by no means certain that all trouble was over. Out of the 6,000 Indians that should have reported at the Rosebud agency yesterday for rations only a small number had put in appearance. This, however, he said should not be taken as indicative of the fact that the majority were going on the warpath. The situation, in the main, was just the same as at midnight Sunday night, except that the dispatches were of a more encouraging tenor and indicated peace. Several of the dispatches which passed to and fro last night had relation to the treaty made a year ago with the Sioux by Gen. Warner, of Missouri, and ex-Governor Charles Foster, of Ohio.

Inspector General Heyl left last night for the purpose of visiting all the agency stations where disaffection exists. He is accompanied by a stenographer, and it is understood that he is under instructions to take evidence regarding the complaint of the Indians that they have been deprived of the rations guaranteed them by the treaty and practically reduced to a condition of starvation. Gen. Williams, however, would not admit that this was the real purpose of his trip. Other officers at headquarters expressed the opinion that most of the trouble was due to the non-issue of proper rations and supplies, but at the same time insisted that this did not justify the red men in assuming a belligerent attitude. The prevailing opinion was that entire quiet would be restored within the present week.

Premature Explosion.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Carlo Durot, aged 34, Joseph Diego, aged 40, were killed, and Raffelo Roato and Carmen Purol were seriously injured by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge yesterday afternoon at Sixty third street and Tenth avenue, where they were engaged in blasting. One of the men had placed the cartridge too near the fire to heat it and this caused the explosion.

Lunatic Kills His Wife and Child.

FALKVILLE, Ala., Nov 25.—Dr. A. Turner, an ex-member of the legislature, last night choked his wife and little daughter to death. The doctor has twice been in an asylum. The child raised an alarm before being killed and when citizens rushed in they found the doctor in a wild frenzy. He declared that his wife had tried to kill him and that he acted in self-defense.

Loppy Gets Left.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Martin D. Loppy was last night convicted of the murder of his wife, which occurred on July 4 last. He will be sentenced on Friday. Loppy, who was a worthless fellow, picked a quarrel with his wife, which culminated in his seizing a pair of scissors and stabbing her in the breast. Loppy's defense was that she took her own life

Failed to Send Out a Flagman.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—Two trains on the Illinois Central railway collided near Dubuque, Iowa, yesterday morning, and one man, Edward Russell, was fatally injured. Several others were seriously injured. There had been a failure to send out a flagman

GOVERNMENT LIGHTS

Next Year They Will Cost Five Million Dollars.

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE.

Five Thousand Miles of Shore Lighted, Which Has Almost Revolutionized Steamboat Navigation—Other Dispatches from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The report of the lighthouse board estimates that $2,500,000 will be necessary for the erection of new lighthouses and new lights for next year, and that $2,500,000 will be required for the pay of persons in the service. There are now in operation 333 lighthouses. Three new light ships are ready for equipment, and designs for four others have been completed. Several of these will show electric, revolving and other distinctive lights.

The number of buoys and spindles in service is 4,651, a decrease from last year arising from the failure of sufficient money to place buoys where needed and to replace buoys that have been carried away by the storms.

Five thousand miles of shore on twenty-five rivers is lighted by 1,600 post lights, an average cost for each light of $160 per year.

The board asks that an appropriation of $400,000 be made for repairs of lighthouses, and says that unless it is made, much valuable property will be utterly ruined. It is also urged that congress forbid the use of private lights on either river or ocean shore. The system of lighting river and ocean shores, has, the report says, almost revolutionized steamboat navigation, making it nearly as safe to run by night as it is by day.

Life Saving Medals.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The secretary of the treasury has sent to Lawrence O. Lawson, keeper of the Evanston, Ill., life saving station, and six other members of the life saving crew the gold life-saving medals of honor awarded to them under the provisions of the law of June 20, 1874, for heroic deeds in saving life at the wreck of the steamer Calumet on Lake Michigan Nov. 28, 1889. The Evanston crew rescued eighteen persons from a most perilous situation under peculiarly adverse conditions, in the face of appalling obstacles and to the extreme peril of their lives, and this remarkable work, the secretary says in his letter to Mr. Lawson, "has seldom been equalled in the annals of life saving operations."

Poor Prospect for Congressional Work.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The arrivals of members of the two houses of congress have been so few that it is possible there will be less than a quorum in each when congress is called to order on Monday next. This is particularly true of the house of representatives. It is quite certain that the Republicans in that body will not be able to muster a quorum. The prospect is very little business will be transacted before the holidays except the preliminary committee work on the necessary appropriation bills.

Chicago's Public Building.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Supervising Architect Windeyn, of the treasury department, has returned from Chicago, where he spent last week in inspecting the Chicago public building. He says there is nothing alarming in the condition of the building, and that he will put it in thorough repair. An appropriation for this purpose will be asked of congress.

Contracts Awarded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The contract for doing the joining work in the public building at Pittsburg, was yesterday awarded to Wood, Jenks & Company, of Cleveland, O., at $122,000. The contract for furnishing the heating apparatus for the same building was awarded to S. I. Pope & Company, of Chicago, at $46,850.

A Young Man Waylaid.

CYNTHIANA, Ky., Nov. 25.—Arthur Fletcher, a young man in company with William Asbury, was fired upon Saturday night near Claysville on their return home by three young men who were on the roadside. Fletcher is so badly wounded that he will die. William Rout, Samuel Lilly and Dave Rollins were brought to town and placed under $4,000 bonds each. All are prominent and well-to do people. Examining trial set for Saturday.

Grover Cleveland's House Burned.

BUFFALO, Nov. 25.—Fire started in the village of Akron about noon yesterday, and, owing to high wind and inadequate fire apparatus, obtained such headway, that six buildings with most of their contents were burned before the flames were checked. One building was torn down to prevent further spread of the fire. The loss is estimated at $27,000. One of the buildings destroyed was owned by Grover Cleveland.

Pine Mountains on Fire.

JELLICO, Tenn., Nov. 25.—Mountain fires have been burning here for the last two weeks, and last night they surpassed anything in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Pine mountains are almost a solid mass of fire. Thousands of dollars' worth of timber and fences have been destroyed, and if a heavy fall of rain is not soon experienced millions of dollars' worth of timber will be burned.

Smuggling on the St. Lawrence.

QUEBEC, Nov. 25.—The schooner Waterfly, with $20,000 of smuggled whisky on board, was seized in the river Sunday by custom officers. A number of other contraband vessels are reported in the river on the way up to this port, and will probably be all captured. The illicit trade has assumed large proportions.

TROUBLES.

Prospects of a Compromise on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 25.—The strike on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road will in all probability be compromised within the next twelve hours and traffic resumed. President Sault telegraphed Trainmaster Bowman for his resignation, and it is said here that if Bowman is forced to resign the conductors, brakemen and switchmen will return to work without pressing their demand for three brakemen on freight crews. The switchmen in the yards here all quit work yesterday.

The freight blockade in the Chicago and Eastern Illinois yards at this point is complete. The local employes will say nothing about the trouble. The strike was not authorized by any of the railway organizations and seems to be without a head.

Strike on the Branch Road.

TUSCOLA, Ill., Nov. 25.—The trainmen on the St. Louis branch of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois road yesterday joined with the strikers on the main line and refused to take freight cars out. About 400 coal miners at Grape creek will be thrown out of work if the strike continues, as the mine owners can secure no cars.

Ten Thousand Men May Strike.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Nov. 25.—The Knights of Labor officials and Manager Lynch, of the Frick Coke company, met yesterday and failed to agree on the one-third shut-down trouble. A notice was served on the company threatening a strike in six days if the matter is not settled. The leaders fear a strike of 10,000 men. The 650 miners at the Mammoth plant are still out.

Won't Work With Convicts.

STILLWATER, Minn., Nov. 25.—All the molders employed by the Minnesota Thresher company, one of the largest manufacturing organizations in the state, have quit work because twelve convicts had been given positions in the foundry.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

The Directors Meet at Louisville and Transact Some Important Business.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 25.—The directors of the American Association base ball clubs met here yesterday and held an exciting meeting. President Phelps tendered his resignation, but it was held up with a view to having him consider it.

The question of the forfeiture of the Athletic franchise then came up. After some discussion it was decided forfeited. A recess was then taken until 11 o'clock, when a secret session was held on the question of reorganization.

At the afternoon's session President Phelps, who had been given a complimentary re-election, insisted on his resignation being accepted. Hon. A. W. Thurman, of Columbus, O., was then elected president.

It is rumored that Louisville, St. Louis, Columbus and Baltimore have resigned and will form a National Association, with Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and Washington to complete the circuit.

It is the belief among the best posted on current base ball gossip that the newly organized American Association will include Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston in the east, and Columbus, St. Louis, Chicago and Louisville in the west, and that there will virtually be an amalgamation with what is left of the Brotherhood league. There is no authority obtainable for this statement, as the delegates refuse to commit themselves to interviews.

Managers Barnie, of Baltimore; Schmelz, of Columbus, and Von der Ahe, of St. Louis, severally denies any intention of assisting in getting rid of Syracuse, Rochester and Toledo, and as the managers of these clubs declare that they will remain in the Association, it is difficult to see where the majority necessary to oust them is to come from. It looks as if a purchase of the franchises of the three objectionable clubs will afford the only solution of the mystery.

METHODIST DISCIPLINE.

A Grave Task Laid Out for a Meeting at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—On the tenth day of next month there will meet in this city at Roberts Park church, a small body of men in whose proceedings the Methodist Episcopal church all over this country will have an unusual interest. For a long time in the Methodist Episcopal church the question has been mooted as to what portions of the discipline was the organic law or constitution of the church and what was merely legislation.

This question has come up in various general conferences from time to time until it has become serious with the more thoughtful. The matter of interpretation was before the last general conference on the question of admitting women delegates, and as a result of the discussion an order was passed recommending the appointment of a commission of seven ministers, seven laymen, one from each general conference district, and three bishops to prepare paragraphs to take the place of Paragraphs 63 and 64 in the present edition of the discipline. These paragraphs are "to define and determine the constitution of the general conference, to state of whom it shall be composed, and by what method it shall be organized to declare its power [illegible] and report to the general conference of 1892.

A MURDERER SURRENDERS.

After a Year in Hiding Dennis Donovin Returns to Findlay and Surrenders Himself to the Sheriff to Answer to the Charge of Killing William McManness. Other Buckeye Dispatches.

FINDLAY, O., Nov. 25.—About a year ago Dennis Donovin, a drunken glass blower, went into the yard of William McManness and began teasing his children, who were playing there, running them about the yard and otherwise annoying them. The alarmed children ran to their father for protection. In attempting to remonstrate with Donovin for his conduct, McManness was attacked and hit on the head with a piece of scantling, crushing in the skull and causing instant death.

Donovin fled, and, notwithstanding the vigorous efforts of the officers, made good his escape.

For a year he has been going from one city to another, always dodging the officers until the life he was leading became unbearable. Yesterday Donovin astonished the sheriff by walking into his office and asking that he be locked up to await trial for his crime

Donovin claims that he came here directly from Toronto, Canada

The announcement of his return under these circumstances has caused as profound a sensation as the horrible murder which he committed

BACK IN THE PENITENTIARY.

A Paroled Prisoner Prefers to Do Inside Work.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—A very remarkable occurrence took place here yesterday, it is believed the first of the kind in the history of the Ohio penitentiary. Ulric Campbell, a colored man convicted in Lorain county about three years ago of rape and sent up for five years, was paroled on the 9th of October, and has since been working for Manager Watkins near Prospect.

He returned to Columbus last Saturday because he was dissatisfied and determined to do something that would forfeit his parole. Yesterday morning he secured entrance to the clerk's office, and with a skeleton key opened the desk and secured $20 and some railroad tickets worth $50. Shortly afterwards he was arrested and taken to the prison. He acknowledged his guilt but claimed to have lost the tickets. The charge of grand larceny was lodged against him and he was turned over to the deputy warden, who took him back to the penitentiary.

New Incorporations.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state yesterday as follows: The Mount Pleasant Cemetery association, Plain township, Stark county; Central Ohio Mutual Fire Insurance association, Columbus; Camp No. 10 of the Independent Order of Home Guards, Painesville; Forest City Mutual Benefit society of Cleveland; Geauga Foundry and Manufacturing company, Painesville, $40,000; Lasker Lodge No. 401, Knights of Pythias, Cincinnati; the Lewis Voight & Sons Company, Cincinnati, capital stock $100,000.

Convict's Sudden Death.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—Wallace Smother died at the penitentiary hospital. The death was a mysterious one and had sad surroundings. Only an hour before his death Smother was walking about in the hospital talking and joking with other prisoners. Soon he began complaining and was taken to his cot. Dr. Parker was called, but it was without avail. He began sinking and did not speak again. He was received on a five year sentence from Montgomery county Sept. 21, 1890.

But Little Hope for Isaac Smith.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—It now looks as though Isaac Smith would hang next Thursday night. Governor Campbell says he has heard the evidence that can be given on either side, but that if any body has anything further to offer he will hear it Wednesday or Thursday. In other words what has been said in favor of Smith is not enough to change his mind. It is quite safe to say that Smith will hang Saw Mill Boiler Explodes.

LIMA, O., Nov. 25.—The boiler in the saw mill of Shaw Brothers, located near Cridersville exploded with frightful force yesterday afternoon, throwing a piece of the boiler 100 yards. Several of the employes were severely but not fatally injured. The mill is a total wreck. The financial loss is about $1,200

A Brakeman's Fate.

[illegible], O., Nov. 25.—Cyrus Hill, aged 25, married, a brakeman on the [illegible] Valley road, was ground to death under the wheels yesterday while attempting to board a train.

An Important Judgment.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—A Winnipeg, Man., special to The Journal says: The most important judgment ever given in Manitoba was delivered by Judge Killam yesterday against the celebrated appeal of the Roman Catholics from an act passed by the last legislature abolishing separate schools. The case will be appealed to England, as the Catholics will not be satisfied until a decision is obtained there.

CRASH IN COAL

A Pittsburg Firm Goes Under With $100,000 Liabilities.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 25.—Thomas Fawcett & Sons, one of the oldest and largest bituminous coal firms in this city, have failed. Judgments aggregating $100,000 were entered by the Central bank yesterday morning, and all property of the firm has been levied upon by the sheriff to satisfy these claims. The liabilities are estimated at $100,000, with assets of about $60,000. No statement has yet been made but one is promised at once.

The failure was not unexpected and it is claimed was not the result of the present financial conditions. The firm has been carrying a large amount of paper and for two months it has been known that they were about to give up the fight. The senior member, Mr. Thomas Fawcett, is president of the Central bank, but the failure will have no effect upon that institution as it is amply protected. The failure is attributed to the long continued depression of the river coal trade.

Fate of an Escaped Convict.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 25.—In 1878 a handcuffed prisoner named Williams jumped from a car window while on his way to the penitentiary. The sheriff had other prisoners in charge and could only fire a shot at the fugitive. A few days ago a human jawbone and bones of one forearm, with a rusty handcuff and chain attached, were found at West Boulder, twenty miles from Livingston. Investigation showed it to be the handcuffs of the escaped prisoner of twelve years before.

The Young Widow and Her Sister Start for Europe.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Nov. 25.—Mrs. Birchall and her sister, Mrs. West Jones, left here at 6:45 last night for Europe. They sail from New York Wednesday on the Majestic. A large crowd gathered at the depot to bid farewell to the young widow, who has many warm sympathizers. Both ladies were dressed in deep mourning.

Mrs Birchall refused to visit the grave while her husband's body is in the jail yard, but if the authorities will give it up she will return to Canada and have the remains interred in the cemetery.

The White Star line furnished free transportation for the ladies from here to England.

Mrs Birchall still believes that her husband was innocent of the actual killing of Benwell. She was greatly pained to hear that Rev. Mr. Wade had intimated that her husband had confessed to him, while to her he protested to the last that he was not guilty.

"I will never believe that Reggie confessed to anyone," she said to the United Press reporter, weeping bitterly. "He told me he was innocent and more, he implored me to not place any reliance in what other people might say after he was dead. If he was guilty of that terrible crime I know he would have confessed it to me. I pressed him so to tell me all, and he said he had."

China Very Hard Up.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The City of Rio Janeiro arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. The China mail says that China is very hard up. Not only is she unable to construct any railroads without foreign capital, but ready money is wanted by the imperial household and for the relief of the inundated districts. Foreigners, however, will not advance the money without an imperial edict being issued sanctioning the loan, and the authorities at Peking are too stupidly proud to thus openly confess their indebtedness to foreigners.

Race Riot in South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 25.—The race riot at Bishopville, in Sumter county, is not yet ended. Seven negroes were wounded in the conflicts Saturday, one of them fatally. The negroes were driven off, but returned yesterday armed to the teeth. The sheriff and military are encamped in town and the negroes are outside. Guns were sent from Columbia last night, and more bloodshed is almost certain to follow.

Newspaper Office Burned.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 25.—The building occupied by the Enquirer, at Yorkville, was destroyed by fire, with its contents, yesterday morning. Loss, $5,000. The fire was of incendiary origin.

Five Men Killed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 25.—Pleasure Ridge distillery's warehouse on Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, eight miles east, collapsed yesterday, crushing five men to death and badly injuring others.

It is a Mistake

To try to cure catarrh by using local applications. Catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man's nose, but of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

Stole Busts from a Cemetery.

That too ingenious person who stole bronze and marble busts from the cemetery of Montparnasse, touched them up and sold them as effigies of famous heroes, statesmen or orators, has at last met with the punishment which his lugubrious labors deserved. Moreau, for so the new kind of "resurrection man," to adopt the phrase of Dickens, is called, came up before the eighth tribunal of police, and was soon sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

The singular thefts perpetrated by Moreau in the cemetery long passed unperceived. He was accordingly able to make some money by his dismal and deplorable transactions, and it is considered probable that many of his transformed busts now adorn not only the humble homesteads of artisans in Paris, but also the libraries and museums of some provincial towns. On one occasion he is said to have sold the effigy of a worthy professor of the Sorbonne as that of a famous general of the revolution, while on another he passed off the bronze presentment of a departed grocer as that of a Demosthenes.—Paris Cor. London Telegraph.

Rare Fortitude in a Dog.

Many of the sportsmen of Wilmington will perhaps remember Sailor, the fine pointer dog of Mr. J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn. He was an extraordinary hunter and retriever, with almost human tact, and his owner valued him at several hundred dollars. A few days ago this fine dog was run over by the train at Chadbourn, and his left fore leg was crushed off, leaving a piece of the bone protruding.

Mr. Brown hated to kill his valuable and faithful dog, so he got Dr. A. McKinnon to amputate the crushed member. When the operation was performed Sailor obeyed the command to lie down, and never even gave a whimper when the work was done. The poor animal's muscles were contracted with pain, but with a few sympathetic caresses from his master he lay perfectly still until the amputation was performed.—Wilmington Messenger.

Full of Enterprise.

A boy with a mowing machine called at a house on Second avenue the other day, and asked the woman if she wanted the grass cut.

"Mercy, no!" she replied. "No one cuts grass at this season."

"I'll contract for next spring," continued the boy.

"But—I may be dead by that time."

"Then I'll contract to see that your grave is kept green!"—Detroit Free Press.

A search for the oldest clergyman in England shows that the Rev. John Elliott, vicar of Randwick, will be 100 in three months. He preached up to the age of 95 regularly, and occasionally last year. He goes to church now regularly every Sunday, and occasionally visits parishioners.

The 5th of November, which, even in the memory of those who do not consider themselves old, was generally observed in England as "Gunpowder Day," is said to be now almost ignored, even in London.

After exhaustive experiments the French postoffice has decided to substitute a copper coated steel wire in place of the ordinary iron wire for telegraphic and telephonic service.

The epoch of bigness has extended to every phase of neckwear. Some of the dress bows even are of unusual size, while the big ascot butterflies simply break the record.

Perique tobacco, which, it is said, grows to perfection only in St. James' parish, La., will be but a scant crop this year, owing to the late floods.

A boy of 17 and a girl of 15 were married the other day at Columbia, Mo. Among the wedding gifts were a doll and a Flobert rifle.

How to Succeed.

This is the great problem of life wh[illegible] few satisfactorily solve. Some fail because of poor health, others want of luck, but the majority from deficient grit—want of nerve. They are nervous, irresolute, changeable, easily get the blues and "take the spirits down to keep the spirits up," thus wasting money, time, opportunity and nerve [illegible]. There is nothing like the Restorative Nervine, discovered by the great specialist, Dr. Miles, to cure all nervous diseases, as headache, the blues, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, fits, and hysteria. OF THE NEXT CONGRESS.

ROBERT GRAVES ANALYZES THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Chang[illegible] Will Be Unusual[illegible] Something About the Retiring and the Incoming Members. [illegible] Some of the Outgoing Veterans.

[illegible]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[illegible] fifty-six, or [illegible] half of the members of the next house of representatives are [illegible] of the present [illegible] few of the new members [illegible] terms in the past, but [illegible] other man in the next house will be a greenhorn [illegible] before seen. The greatest number of new men that ever came into the house together was 125, but now this [illegible] mark is raised by at least twenty[illegible]. As usual, the greatest number of changes is in the northern states. I have in these letters more than once pointed out that the different tendencies of the two great sections of the country in respect of keeping men in congress term after term is giving the south a great advantage in influence and efficiency of service. For some reason or other the people of the north are less constant in their loyalty to individuals and are disposed to improve every opportunity to get new hired men at Washington.

In many districts there is a sort of unwritten law that a congressman shall have but two terms before stepping down and out, and often the man who has served one term is very lucky to get the other one, so eager is the rivalry and so importunate the rivals. The people of the south, as a rule, take directly the contrary view. They believe in keeping a man in Washington as long as he does them good. Thus the representatives from the south have opportunity to develop and strengthen themselves. Age and experience give prestige in congress as well as anywhere else, and it is in these essentials that the statesmen from the south have signal advantage over their brethren from the north.

Take the result of the recent elections for illustration. In the house the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia have 108 members. Seventy-seven of these are re-elected, and only 31, or 2 out of 7, will be succeeded by new men in the Fifty-second congress. Of the 222 members hailing from the northern and western states, including Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia, 124, or 3 out of 5, have failed of re-election to the next congress.

In the southern states the changes are more numerous than usual on account of the appearance in politics of the Farmers' Alliance movement. Notwithstanding the effect of this new activity in the political field the state of Alabama sends back to congress all of her present representatives, eight in number. It is the only state in the Union having more than one representative which does do so. Arkansas sends but one new man, to take the place of Mr. Rogers, that master of satire and of invective, who created so many stirring scenes in the house last winter. Mr. Rogers voluntarily retired from public life, desiring to do something for himself and his old age, and not to give all his energy and years of fruitfulness to his country. There are six new men from Georgia, the largest number from any of the southern states.

The man who will be most missed from this delegation is Barnes, of Augusta, the leviathan, good natured Barnes, whose 350 pound bulk has been one of the landmarks of the Democratic side of the hall for five years. His successor, Maj. Watson, is likely to be the smallest man in the next house, as his weight is about ninety pounds. Extremes will meet when Barnes courteously hands his chair over to Watson. Kentucky sends but two new men, one to succeed ex-Speaker Carlisle. Louisiana makes but two changes, and Mississippi the same number. In Missouri five new men appear, one of them replacing the picturesque Mr. Niedringhaus, of St. Louis, who used to throw the house into convulsions of laughter with his funny speeches, which were intended to be serious. In Missouri is a striking instance of the uncertainty of politics and of the freaks of fortune. This has become known as "the farmers' year" in politics, and yet among the slain in this state is Farmer Wade himself, one of the most able and zealous of all the champions of agriculture. It is a singular fact that in all the southern states not one of the leaders in congress, not one of the men of great influence, was defeated. Mills, Crisp, Herbert, Oates, Hemphill, McMillan, Hooks, Blount, Hooker, the two Breckinridges, McCreary, Allen, Hatch, Bland, Dockery, Heard, Richardson, Enloe, [illegible], Lee, O'Ferrall, Cowles, Tucker—all are returned.

Not so in the [illegible] New York [illegible] Mr. Rockwell [illegible] sional service [illegible] the delegation [illegible] the painters' friend [illegible] members [illegible] of all the members from New York [illegible] twenty-two [illegible]

[illegible] Mr. Bayne is still a young man [illegible] statesman going [illegible]

[illegible] of the [illegible] Another [illegible] will now [illegible] Gen. [illegible] of New [illegible] only a few [illegible] A. H. [illegible] from Ten[illegible]. The last [illegible] served two [illegible] number of [illegible] congress [illegible] farther back. Next [illegible] are Hooks and Colquitt and after [illegible] Morrill and [illegible] Sherman. In Massachusetts [illegible] election, according to [illegible], the wit and orator who [illegible] funeral, and Rockwell, who had [illegible] known to fame as the father of seven [illegible] children, a girl for every day in the week and a boy for Sunday. The most noted of the new men from Massachusetts, the one who will be most eagerly watched, is [illegible] Hoar, a Democrat, against whom his uncle, Senator Hoar, spoke and worked with all his vigor. Young Hoar, bearing the name of two United States senators and with the blood of a family of statesmen in his veins, will, with Cabot Lodge, [illegible] George Tucker and John F. Andrew, form quite a group of scions of great families in the next house.

In California we find another veteran taking off the harness. Gen. Vandever declined a renomination to congress, concluding that he had had enough of public service. Thirty-two years ago he was first elected to congress from Iowa, but the war breaking out he left his seat and William B. Allison, now senator from Iowa, was elected to the vacancy. This is what Senator Allison refers to when he says, as he sometimes does say, that he had military experience; that he was Gen. Vandever's substitute—in congress. California also appears to have the spirit of change, for of her six members of the present house but one is re-elected.

One of the most complete turnings over seen in the north is in Ohio, where of twenty-one statesmen in the present house only six are re-elected. Here a number of strong men are retired to private life, among them the leader of the majority in the present house, William McKinley, Jr. Mr. McKinley is now completing his thirteenth year of service in the house, having been once unseated after serving half a term. Ben Butterworth, wit, philosopher and orator, who declined a renomination; Gen. Grosvenor, Judge Thompson, Judge Seney, Capt. Morey and Gen. Kennedy, famous for his anti-Quay speech of last summer, are other well known Ohioans who do not return to congress.

Michigan sends six new men, among them "Little Ford," who was in the last congress, and who contrived to make a great reputation for himself with one shrewd move, an investigation of the immigration question. Two or three well known men are among those who disappear, at least temporarily, the most conspicuous being Gen. Cutcheon, now chairman of the committee on military affairs.

Illinois sends eight new men, greatly to the surprise of all the political wiseacres. Some of the most famous men in the delegation are left at home, among them Joe Cannon, who is one of the veterans of the house, having served nearly eighteen years, and who has slowly risen to a position of leadership in his party; Mr. Payson, one of the most popular and earnest men in the house, who is serving his tenth year; Capt. Rowell, chairman of the elections committee, who is in his fourth term; George Adams, of Chicago, who has also been four times elected, and "Billy" Mason, who has been in congress long enough to gain a national reputation as an orator. Frank Lawler, the quaint Irish member, about whom so many good stories are told, declined a renomination for congress in order to take the profitable office of sheriff, and now, after a campaign which cost him the last dollar he had in the world, he finds himself defeated for sheriff.

Iowa sends seven new men in a delegation that numbers but eleven, among the defeated ones being ex-Governor Gear, a member of the ways and means committee, who has spent a fortune in politics. Among the many changes in Wisconsin is one which brings a new and unknown man to the seat hitherto occupied by "Little Lafallette," who some years ago wanted to be an actor, but who was induced to give up that ambition on account of his slight figure. Mr. Lafallette was also a member of the ways and means committee, and one of the promising men of his party.

Minnesota returns but one of her present representatives, Nebraska none at all, and Kansas but one—stern and sterling "Farmer Funston." Of the thirteen members from Indiana six fail of return to the next house. Judge Holman is not one of the luckless half dozen. It begins to look as if this wise, shrewd, alert old man had found the fountain of perpetual youth. Year after year he comes back here, the same [illegible] sharp eyed, shrill voiced, [illegible] working hard from [illegible] at night, retiring at [illegible] and getting [illegible]. Twice they [illegible] his district, but they could not keep him down. Parties and presidents and tariffs may come and go, but Holman appears to run on forever. He is [illegible] O'Neill, the patriarch of the [illegible] of service, and as he is only [illegible] the [illegible] Holman to all appearances [illegible] fifteen years ago, when [illegible]

A FIVE DOLLAR TRANSACTION.

Travers—You are a nice friend to have. Yesterday, when I had sworn to pay Dashaway a debt of honor to the amount of $5, and sent around to your office explaining the whole matter, you paid not the slightest attention to my request for a loan.

Cleverton—Hold on. When you asked Dashaway first for that money he came around and borrowed it from me. So yesterday I really paid you $5, although, of course, you didn't know it at the time. Then I had you pay Dashaway. Then I had Dashaway pay me. That canceled his debt and yours. Do you see?

Travers—Of course. And that makes us square.

Cleverton—Not much. You owe me $5.

Travers—Not at all. I owed Dashaway $5, and he owed you $5. Now I paid him by your own confession the $5 I owed him, and through him I paid you the $5 that he owed you. That makes a total of $10. Five dollars of this, however, belonged to Dashaway. The other $5 I paid you, but as you had already lent me $5, this made us square.

Cleverton—No, no. You owed Dashaway $5, didn't you? Well, I paid him. So now you owe it to me. What could possibly be plainer?

Travers—Well, we'll see about that. Here comes Dashaway. Say, Dashaway, did this man pay you the $5 I owed you yesterday?

Dashaway—No, I should say not. I have just been looking for you.

Travers (to Cleverton)—Then what do you mean by trying to do me out of $5? Wait a minute [waving his hand]. I'll prove it. Now, let us begin all over again, and start where we were yesterday, before you tried to mix this thing up. Cleverton, have you got that same $5 bill you had yesterday?

Cleverton (confused)—Yes, here it is.

Travers—Then just let me have it for a minute. I'm not going to rob you! That's right. Now, Dashaway, I owe you $5 [hands it to Dashaway]. Now I have paid you, haven't I? Now you pay Cleverton what you owe him. [Dashaway hands the $5 to Cleverton.] Now, Cleverton, Dashaway has paid you the $5 he owed you, hasn't he?

Cleverton—Yes.

Travers—And are you anything out by the transaction? and haven't you got the same $5 you started with? You ought to take a few lessons in simple arithmetic.

Cleverton—That seems to be all right. I can't see how I got so mixed up.

Travers (three minutes later, by himself)—That was the easiest $5 I ever made.—Tom Masson in Life.

Cleverton—The other day when I went into Fielding's to buy a hat, and sent around to you for a voucher to establish my credit, why in thunder didn't you answer?

Being Pleasant to a Chinaman.

I attempted to be pleasant to a Chinaman the other day, and I have not yet decided whether the attempt was a success. He is a missionary, and for lack of anything else to talk about after being introduced to him I said:

"How are you getting on?"

"Getting on?"

"Yes—in your mission work."

"Oh! Very well. How are you getting on yours?"

"How? Which way?"

"In your work."

"Making a living, thank you."

"That's good."

"Which?"

"The living."

Indigestion

Is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

BIG BAG OF GAME.

Detective Burns and Policeman Palmer Make a Haul of Suspicious Characters.

Detective Burns got his eye on a gang of suspicious characters that were about town Monday afternoon and were loitering in the vicinity of the west end railroad yards. Some of the fellows had been disposing of overcoats and gold rings. Burns became aware of these transactions and spotted the them, and in company with Palmer went out to the west end to arrest the men. There were nine of them in one gang, and were found near the C., H. V. and T. water tank. They were all placed under arrest, searched and marched into town.

The gang was taken to the mayor's office, and Mayor Dudley ordered them locked up and held on suspicion of being the fellows wanted at Carey for assaulting the night watchman of that town Sunday night and afterwards robbing several business houses, and also holding up the clerk of the Galt House at that place.

The news of the arrest was telegraphed the Carey authorities, and in the evening R. S. Anderson, of the Galt House, and H. Fetter, proprietor of a clothing house at Carey, came to the city to identify the clothing disposed of here. This, however, they failed to do, and returned home this morning. The suspects were held until this afternoon to await the arrival of the railroad operator at Carey to identify members of the party arrested.

One of the gang is claimed by those who have seen him, as being the man who cut the Erie freight train here Saturday night, and was running about town Sunday without a hat. He is axiously wanted by Detective Caldwell.

The gang arrested is a tough looking crowd, and have the appearance of professional roadsters. The whole nine of them were locked up in two cages at the city prison.

Later—Word was received from Carey this afternoon to release the men and the nine of them were let out of prison.

We should add in way of partial correction to the above that Policeman Palmer and his friends state that he is entitled to the credit of making the arrests, and at the time stood the whole party in a line and searched them. Policemen should have credit for all the good work they do.

A Scandal at Harpster.

Upper Sandusky, O., Nov. 24.—Church circles at Harpster, a thriving village south of here, formerly known as Eowler City, are greatly stirred up over the suspension of Rev. G. W. Farley, pastor of the M. E. church of that place, from any further service in the pulpit, by Rev. L. M. Albright, presiding elder of this district, on a rather sensational charge. Farley is a married man of about 30, and has three children. He has always stood well, and every one in the community and his many acquaintances here are quite dumbfounded over his alleged wrongdoings. There are many stories afloat, and those who are acquainted with the facts won't give them out, but from statements obtained, it seems that a young lady figures in the trouble. It is alleged that Mr. Farley has been paying clandestine attentions to a daughter of Mr. Mouldo, a shoemaker and prominent resident of the village. It is further charged that he has kept up a correspondence with the young lady. The letters, it is claimed, were discovered and taken to the presiding elder, with the result above stated. The friends of Mr. Farely are confident, however, that he can establish his innocence of any unsavory intentions on his part fully and satisfactorily

OF THE GREAT W. C. T. U. CONVENTION AT ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

The Progress of the Union in the Past Decade—Miss Willard's Reelection—The Hospitality and Rare Entertainment Offered in the South.

We were assembled in the Empire State of the great south land, by reason of an invitation sent us at Chicago by Gen. John B. Gordon, its gallant governor, by its legislature and the mayor of its renowned city. This was indeed high honor and significant courtesy. It meant that the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union is for "Native Land," not for a section, and is guided by the Southern Cross as well as the North Star.

Georgia is today the banner prohibition state of the South—having local prohibition in 100 of its 137 counties—and was led on to this proud precedence by its present grand Governor, Wm. J. Northen.

The Georgia farmer is now at the fore in politics—he is not in favor of saloons and never was—and with an Alliance legislature and a farmer governor, it is expected that this body just convened will say the "saloon must go." Early in the convention two gentlemen from the legislature appeared and presented an invitation which had been passed by both houses. It invited Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, national superintendent of Scientific Temperance Instruction, to address the legislature on any night she might designate. The invitation was accepted by a rising vote of thanks. Fraternal greetings were also borne to us by representatives from the National Grange, in session at Atlanta. All these gave expression of cordial sympathy and hearty co-operation with the aims and objects of the W. C. T. U. Distinguished visitors from various sections of the country were introduced, and many letters bearing fraternal greetings were read. Among the latter were messages from Phillips Brooks, Bishop Vincent, Bishop Wm. Taylor, Bishop Warren, Dr. Lyman Abbot, Mrs. Livermore, Sir Wilfred Lawson, England, Rev. Edward Everett Hale, Marian Harland, Marietta Holley, Hannah Whitall Smith, England, and Madam Jenness Miller, a cablegram from Lady Henry Somerset, and telegrams without number.

The report of the corresponding secretary for the past year showed a year of unprecedented progress, 8000 new members having been added to the Union. Ten years ago, at our Boston convention, 23 states and territories; today 44 states, 2 territories and the District of Columbia. The money received as dues is 16 times as great as that received in 1880. This measures the extent by which the W. C. T. U. has been killed by its political action and the secession of malcontents. Since 1880 the official organ of the Union nas grown from an 8-page monthly with a circulation of 5000, into a 16-page weekly with a subscription list of over 80,000, the largest list of any religious or philanthropic paper, except the Sunday School Times.

One of the brightest features of the whole convention was the large representation of young lady delegates from the "Y" unions in the states. These had an evening, and the program as brought out by the young ladies showed not only the highest degree of culture but the deepest consecration to the work.

Miss Maud Ballington Booth, fraternal delegate from the Salvation Army, addressed a large audience at Trinity M. E. church. This lady was born the daughter of an Episcopal clergyman, and told the story of her conversion in a touching manner, completely captivating her audience.

Miss Willard, who has served this organization of 250,000 women for 15 years, was again unanimously chosen its leader. Miss Willard—who had been out of her chair for a day by sickness—was escorted to the platform by Mrs. Dunham, state president of Iowa. Her reception was an ovation. The distinguished lady responded in a speech that was superbly beautiful. She spoke of the golden sunshine, the blue southern skies and the twittering of singing birds that awakened her in the morning. She thought of the thousands of women who were upholding her on every hand, whispering words of comfort and encouragement. Then and there she fell upon her face and consecrated herself heart, mind, soul and body to the cause to which she has devoted herself during the past years. Her words were marvelously tender and touching. They came from the heart and crept into the heart of even the most cynical man present, and made him feel drawn toward the cause for which our women are battling. Miss Willard was voted a year of absolute rest, at her home in Evanston, with dear old "Saint Courageous," as she is pleased to call her mother, who is 84 years old.

The seventeenth annual convention adjourned to meet next year at Boston.

Ten years ago the convention was held in that city. From a comparatively small body it has grown to mammoth proportions, and after a decade of momentous history it goes back to the great New England metropolis.

But an adjournment did not mean a scattering of the 500 delegates. After five days of hard convention work this body was to enjoy a holiday.

One thousand women, and a fair sprinkling of men and children was the size of the great excursion to Indian Springs. It was said that such an excursion had never passed through the old red hills of Georgia, as was this. The excursion was free, and was for the National W. C. T. U., the visitors in company with them, and the local pastors of the churches. Indian Springs is one of the most historic spots in the country. In ante-bellum days it was one of the most popular summer resorts for wealth and fashion.

The great crowd assembled around the spring, and from the rugged rocks, where stood the savage chiefs of old, there rang out the chorus of an old-fashioned Methodist hymn. The day was a typical southern day—a perfect day—and the scene never to be forgotten. After prayer Col. Geo. W. Adair, of Atlanta, took his stand on the rock, and delivered one of the strongest addresses ever heard by any audience. It was the plea of a statesman on behalf of a united land, with no sectional differences fostered and kept alive by politicians, both north and south. The elequent speaker recognized the fact that the cause that our great body represented was the cause that is reuniting this great land of ours. Many other addresses were given by men and women from the various states. At one o'clock the people were invited to a regular old-fashioned open air feast. A large number of carcases were smoking in the barbecue pits, and 400 yards of table were constructed around the pits, and the great crowd of people ate and were filled. The barbecue was something new to the northern visitors. One of the queer features of the day was the manner in which the colored people gazed in open-eyed wonderment on the proceedings. Many of these had never heard a lady orator before. The people of Butts county acquitted themselves most nobly, and the visitors were loud in their praises of their first taste of true old-timed southern hospitality, as it is in middle Georgia. As the great train, on return, rolled up to the depot the excursionall began singing "God be With You 'Til We Meet Again." After this resolutions were passed, thanking everybody for the royal entertainment given them. After this the excursionists dispersed to their homes, all carrying with them the memories of a happy day, and a day that will linger in the memory long after they have returned to their distant homes, in the various parts of the country.

Thus ended, what has probably been, the most highly successful convention in the history of the Union, and its work will leave an indelible impress upon the thoughts of the God-fearing people of the entire nation.

Atlanta expressed herself on every hand as being proud to entertain such a representative body of intelligent, christian, American women and upon our leave-taking bade us a Godspeed.

Many of the delegates remained South, in different localities, for the winter.

A large number of us stopped off at Chattanooga and spent a day in visiting this historic spot of our country, the National Cemetery, with its 13,000 of sleeping soldiery, the famous battle fields of Mission Ridge and Lookout Mountain. As we climed this great mountain, above the clouds as it were, on the ascent by the Broad Guage railroad and descent on the "Incline," some stout hearts were made timid for the time. The great mountain gorges, the overhanging rocks, and the clouds and trees, below us, made up a scenery which was awful in its grandeur, and our thoughts as we bade adieu to these wonderful sights were surely "the heavens declare, "Thy glory, and the firmament showeth Thy handiwork."

Louise H. Uhler.

Dr James Hedley.

"The greatest platform orator of the West." So says the Buffalo Courier in regard to Dr. James Hedley, who will lecture at Music Hall Tuesday evening, Dec. 2, on the "Sunny Side of Life."

What better recommendation could he receive? This season inuaugurates Dr. Hedley's tenth year as a lecturer. His success has been phenominal. The following are a few sayings from the prominent newspapers of the United States, in regard to this eminent man:

New York Tribune: "Dr. James Hedley delivered a lecture entitled 'The Sunny Side of Life' at Association Hall last evening. The address was full of bright things and was punctured with outbursts of applause from beginning to end."

Memphis, Tenn., Avalanche: Dr Hedley possesses a style of delivery and manner that is magnetic, and shortly after the first few sentences had been spoken he had his audience thoroughly in touch and eager followers of his words. He possesses all the powers of a mimic, which are used with discretion, and move his auditors to laughter, tears and applause alternately.

Boston Herald: The 13th entertainment in the Boston Star course was in the form of a lecture, and was delivered in Tremont Temple last evening by Dr. James Hedley, his subject being "The Sunny Side of Life."

* * * During the entire lecture he gave anecdotes as illustrations of his points which were most amusing, as well as new, and convulsed the audience with laughter. Indeed the entertainment was one of the most successful of the course.

Criminal Docket Assigned.

Wm. Thomas was arraigned in common pleas court this morning to answer to the indictment of sodomy found by the grand jury. He plead not guilty and his case was assigned for Dec. 3. The case of Michael Hagan for pocket picking, is assigned for the same day.

The case of S. E. Prettyman for shooting with intent to kill, and carrying concealed weapons, will be tried Dec. 1. For Dec. 2 the cases of Abram Highwarden, for carrying concealed weapons, and Tom Sanders for larceny, and Robert Morse, for assault with intent to rape, are set for hearing. The Harruff cases, which have been staved off so long, implicating James, Sarah and Amanda Harruff, have been assigned for Thursday, Dec. 4.

THE FOSTORIA MURDER MYSTERY

It Has Taken on a Phase That Makes It Interesting to Marion County People

The mysterious murder committed at Fostoria recently, which [illegible] one [illegible] in interest since [illegible] it took place, is just now [illegible] especial interest of Marion county citizens. Two officers came [illegible] from Fostoria today and took back to that city F. C. and Allen Furgeson, of Prospect, as witnesses in the case.

The murdered man, who was known as Wm Crawford, in company with a friend of his who went by some such name as Charley Frer, stopped at the Furgeson Hotel last week and a week before that. Crawford left there about Saturday or Sunday a week ago. Fraer, so-called, also left and was gone a day or two, but returned to Prospect on Tuesday night of last week. He left again Monday night. The two strangers were, from their manner as described to us, a pair of toughs.

We have not had time to gather facts at going to press. The Furgesons may be able to throw some light upon the matter. There was a woman in the party also.

Thursday's Star.

Confirmed.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it, and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers the California Fig Syrup Company.

Notice From The Grocers.

The citizens of Marion and vicinity are hereby notified that the groceries will be closed at 12 o'clock for the balance of the day, on Thursday—Thanksgiving day. Customers are urged to make their purchases as early as possible to avoid disappointment.

HERE'S ANOTHER

A Ghost Which the Chicago and E. Trainmen are Puzzled About—Only Gravel Trains Given Any Attention.

The Huntington Daily Democrat is responsible for the following ghost story which appeared in its Saturday issue:

"On the east division of the Chicago and Erie road between Elgin and Auglaize a genuine ghost is reported. It pays no attention to anything except gravel trains, but employes on those trains are almost scared to death. They see it in dark as well as moonlight nights and it is impossible to get a man to stay on top of a train while passing through that section.

"The phantom, so it is told, gets on top of the gravel car next to the engine and runs swiftly to the caboose where he disappears in the darkness again. All the way over the train he swings his arms and makes all kinds of gestures but never says a word. One brakeman was setting in the cupalo of the caboose the other night with his head out the window when he saw the spectre start over the train. The brakeman jerked his head in the window just as the ghost swished past.

"The first man to discover it was conductor James M. Holden, and railroad men now call it 'Holden's Ghost.' Brakeman Clarence Gillespie corroborates every report in regard to it for he says he saw it also. It is said that conductors John Brown and Sam Little are planning a way to lasso the ghost.

"Superstition exists among arilroad men as well as any other. In the recent fatal accidents a conductor, engineer, fireman and brakeman were killed, only one more brakeman being required to complete a crew. Last Tuesday four brakeman went to the trainmaster's office and quit their jobs because they had a superstitious fear that another brakeman was soon to be killed to fill out the dead crew. One of the men said 'The ghost at Elgin is a sure sign of it.'

"Here is a chance for some fellow to immortalize himself by finding out what the ghost is."

DASTARDLY DEED OF BURGLARS.

A Clerk Bound and Gagged and the Building Set on Fire.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. J., Nov. 25.—At 1:20 o'clock yesterday morning flames poured out of the three-story brick building leased by A. C. Orutt as a furnishing store. Fireman William Weskott burst in the door and found a clerk, Alexander Griffin, inside bound hand and foot and gagged. The clerk was brought out, and while the firemen worked on the flames Griffin told this story.

He said he was in bed in the rear of store when three men entered. Two held him while one bound him securely. After that was done he was thrown on the floor and one man stood over him with a revolver. The other two went through the store and searched the till and then proceeded upstairs to the offices of Lawyer C. H. Wilson and Auctioneer Lydon. Something must then have frightened them, for they beat a hasty retreat. The next thing Griffin saw was the flames bursting forth in the rear store. He dragged himself to the front door and lay there until rescued.

Weskott said that he was going to bed and looking out of his window directly opposite, saw the light of the fire and gave the alarm. The building was completely burned out. The family of Mr. Lydon on the top floor, barely escaped with their lives. They lost everything. The loss is about $6,000.

A Successful Stockman.

Pen. Waddel, Marion county's well-known cattle raiser, has returned from the Fat Stock Show at Chicago, where he again was successful in securing premiums. Mr. Waddel showed four Holsteins, and secured three first premiums, one second and two sweepstakes, one on herd and one on single animal. The amount of premiums was $310.

Mr. Waddel is distinguished among cattle men as being the first to introduce dairy animals as beef producers, and has made quite a success in this line. He is known as the most skillful feeder and trainer in the county, and has quite a remarkable record in this line. In 1888 he showed a Holstein calf that gained 3¾ pounds per day from birth, the best on record to date. In 1889 he exhibited another calf of the same breed that averaged a gain of 4 13-100 pounds per day from birth until time of showing, six months, a record which has never been equaled. The cost of production was 2½ cents per pound, and this low rate has never been beaten.

Mr. Waddel is certainly a great cattleman, and his prominence as a successful breeder of fine animals has been gained by thoughtful study and application.
